Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jamison et al. (5,062,844).

Jamison et al disclose each and every structural element of the frame set forth in claims 1-10, a radiolucent body material, as set forth in column 2, lines 45-57, column 3, lines 1-21, a stiffening member (45) embedded in the substantially radiolucent body material, as set forth in column 4, lines 5-27, the frame being annular, arcuate, lightweight, inert with respect to human body or household substances, comprises a polycarbonate compound, autoclave and adapted for attachment of a variety of wire and pin securing device and a second stiffening member (46) embedded in the radiolucent body material; as set forth in column 5, lines 10-60; column 6, lines 16-50; and as best seen in FIGS.1-11.

It is noted that Jamison et al did not teach of a stiffening member made of beryllium; as claimed by applicant. However, to use beryllium or carbon fiber, as a radiolucent material stiffening member, would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Response to Amendment

Applicant's arguments filed 1/10/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant stated that Jamison et al did not teach of a beryllium stiffening member. Examiner noted that Jamison et al did not teach of "beryllium"; however, Jamison et al did teach of a stiffening member that is made of carbon fiber, which is radiolucent, just like the "beryllium" claimed by applicant. Therefore, using "beryllium" or "carbon fiber" would have been an obvious matter of using a preferred material, it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to modify the reference, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, the only difference between applicant's stiffening member and Jamison et al's stiffening member is that applicant's stiffening member is made of "beryllium" and Jamison et al's stiffening member is made of "carbon Fiber". However, both "beryllium and carbon fiber" are radiolucent, which is being claimed by applicant.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
